Hosted by The Alleluia Community

The Catholic Fraternity of Charismatic Covenant Communities and Fellowships known as “The Fraternity” is an international private association of members of the faithful that expresses its relationship with the Holy Father through a formal link with the Dicastery for Laity, Family and Life.

Founded in 1990, the Fraternity expresses its desire to support one another in following Christ by responding to His call to form covenant communities. A covenant is a formal commitment to enter into relationship with members of a community and to participate in their lifestyle and mission. At the heart of such a commitment is the desire to grow in holiness and to be involved in apostolic work in service of the Church’s mission.

In 2018, this Fraternity conference will be held in the North American Region, hosted by Alleluia Community located in Augusta, Georgia, USA. It is the first time in many years this conference has been held in the Americas.

The Alleluia Community is a community of men, women, and children, from different Christian traditions who have decided to be a people who live under the Lordship of Jesus. We believe the Holy Spirit has called us together to witness to the Christian life, culture, and unity that God desires for all people. We are a community whose members have agreed to live out our lives in a committed order for the purpose of helping each other live a full Christian life in the power of the Holy Spirit.

ABOUT THE CONFERENCE

The purpose of the conference is to fellowship with community-minded people from all over the world and hear from gifted teachers about our call to be Disciples Together in Mission as well as hear how this is being lived out worldwide.

The Clergy Day will be for bishops, priests and deacons. Both Dr. Mary Healy and Damian Stayne will be the main presenters, talking on the New Evangelization and how dioceses/parishes must begin to use the charisms to bring people to personal encounters with Christ and spiritual maturity.
